Experienced and Innovative, AMTI Delivers

Advanced Management Technology Inc. (AMTI) provides information technology solutions, program management support services and technical consulting to the Federal Government. Our value to our customers is built on a culture of excellence that encourages innovation, fosters collaboration and produces results. From cutting-edge programmer to seasoned company executive, we all do our part to ensure our customers' success.

A Wide Range of Services to Meet Agency Requirements

AMTI's credentials are grounded in our 15 years of support to our nation's aviation safety, scientific, and homeland and national defense communities. From developing software for homeland defense investigators to employing earned value management for FAA program managers, AMTI's experience and innovation make a difference.

AMTI's offerings are focused on three areas of service delivery:

- Information Technology Solutions
- Program Management Support Services
- Technical Consulting Services

A Strong Portfolio of Federal Contracting Vehicles

AMTI knows our Government clients want to move quickly to get the right industry partner, while ensuring that Federal mandates for competition in contracting are met. To meet that requirement, AMTI has a strong portfolio of contracting vehicles - like our GSA Information Technology and Professional Engineering Services schedules and Alliant, GSA's recently-awarded Government-wide Acquisition Contract (GWAC).

AMTI – A Tetra Tech Company

A wholly-owned subsidiary of Tetra Tech, AMTI is the information technology arm of a $1.8 billion engineering services firm with 8,500 employees in 275 locations worldwide. AMTI and Tetra Tech offer clear solutions through sound science, thorough understanding of customer requirements, technical and process innovation, and industry-leading approaches.
